Standing Strong

FY17 ANNUAL REPORT

Dear Friends of CAP,

It's a bit of an understatement to say that 2017 has been a tumultuous year! We have seen grave threats to our healthcare system arise over and over. We have seen the most vulnerable among us targeted by discriminatory legislation and executive actions. We have seen attacks on our hard won and cherished fundamental freedoms--the freedom to marry and to be one's own authentic self.

Thankfully we have also seen these efforts largely beaten back with a tide of activism and engagement. We have seen our friends and allies come together to stand strong against these challenges. We are fortunate to live in a community that values diversity and inclusion.

As an agency, we too are standing strong! FY2017 was a year of growth and new beginnings. We opened the state's first comprehensive LGBTQ+ focused primary care practice, Prism Health, and we expanded our core operations in Southwest Washington by opening our first permanent office in Vancouver.

As we look forward, we know that there are many, many challenges ahead. We invite you to stand strong with us. Together we can face and overcome any adversity.

Join us.

Department Stories

Prism Health: Miguel

I am a Family Nurse Practitioner with Prism Health. I recently worked with “Sam”, a patient who was extremely anxious due to a positive HIV test. Throughout his visit, Sam’s anxiety decreased as his questions were answered and he learned that current treatments are very effective with few side effects. Here at Prism Health, we have worked hard to foster a clinic environment that feels safe, warm and welcoming to members of the LGBTQ+ community. This particular patient said he was happy he was not being judged for his lifestyle or his diagnosis and expressed gratitude for the great care he received during this challenging time in his life.

Southwest Washington: Emma

I am a Medical Case Manager at CAP in Southwest WA. I recently started working with “Mateo”, a client who is monolingual Spanish speaking and has been receiving case management services for years with the assistance of interpreters. When he started receiving case management services in his native language he reported feeling increased levels of support and advocacy and ultimately felt more engaged with supportive services. I worked closely with Mateo to identify culturally and linguistically relevant levels of medical care including transferring him to a Spanish speaking HIV provider, contacting various agencies to request paperwork and communication be in Spanish, and connecting him with a Spanish speaking mental health provider.

Prevention with Positives: Benjamin

I am the Prevention with Positives Coordinator. At our first 1-on-1 counseling meeting, “Tony” informed me that they felt like giving up. Living with HIV and Hep C, Tony was confined to a wheelchair. They were experiencing chronic pain and had stopped going to doctor appointments and taking medications. Over months of working together, Tony built a network of friends and started walking without assistance. Moreover, they are now making every doctor appointment and are consistently taking medications. They also successfully completed Hep C treatment to clear the virus. Tony now shares multiple positive visions for their future.

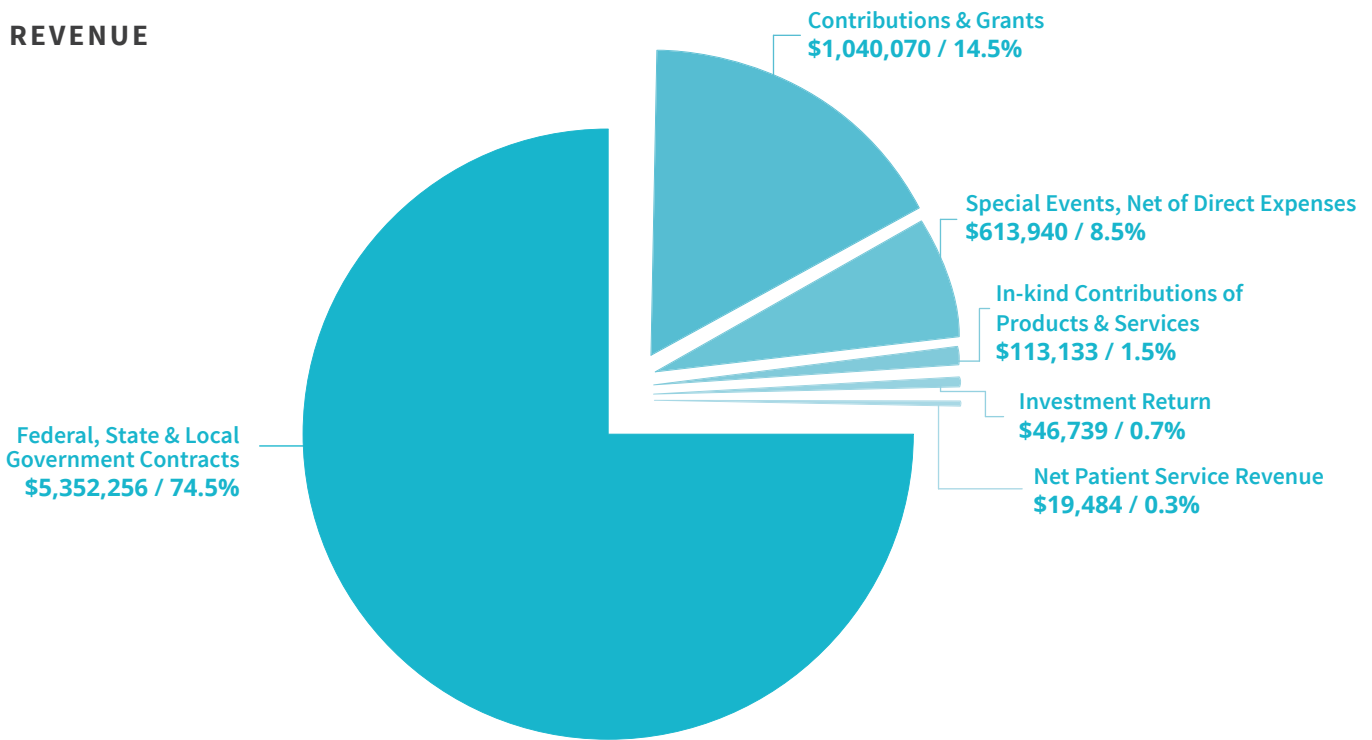

Testing: Edgar

I am the Manager of Clinical Health Services. I’ve tested “Bob” at least a half dozen times over the last few years. Our prevention conversations rarely include surprises or new information. However, Bob recently received his first positive result - for chlamydia. Because CAP now provides results delivery and connection to care services for our STI testing program, Bob received a personal call from me, someone familiar to him. I was able to deliver his result and confirm his connection to care within 24 hours of receiving his result from the state lab. Bob left our conversation with the information he needed to move forward.
